The Arkansas Department of Education's Vision for Teaching and Learning

The Arkansas Department of Education's Vision for Excellence in Education is transforming Arkansas to lead the nation in student-focused education. Implementation of this vision drives significant changes as the department identifies student learning to be a defining characteristic of effective teaching.

Arkansas is committed to students exhibiting evidence of learning through three lenses of application that move students toward competency in multiple disciplines. In order for Arkansas students to graduate college and be career ready, they must be actively literate, critical thinkers, and engaged in the community. The ADE Lenses of Learning outline how students exhibit evidence of their learning and how teachers provide opportunities for students to demonstrate their learning.

At the core of all instruction are content-based academic standards. These standards set the bar for what each student should know and be able to do. In an effort to encourage student-focused outcomes and allow teachers flexibility to meet students where they are in their learning, the ADE has updated the design and presentation of the Arkansas Academic Standards. The Standards are divided into domains which represent clusters of big ideas. In some instances, the domains are organized across K-12, while in other cases they are arranged across smaller grade-bands, depending on the age-appropriateness of the content. The revised format allows districts that are transitioning to a competency-based system to more easily move students through the levels of learning as they master grade-level expectations.

In order to be successful, students will also need a strong foundation of life skills – those intangible abilities that help people interact with others, communicate well, and make positive contributions in the workplace and beyond. These skills are critical to students building and maintaining a strong foundation in academic knowledge and personal competencies. ADE has created the G.U.I.D.E. for Life, a set of personal competency standards, to develop the requisite skills for outstanding job performance and successful personal relationships.

ADE's Vision for Teaching and Learning exemplifies the commitment to student-focused education through its bold development of the ADE Lenses of Learning, reimagined academic standards, and the G.U.I.D.E. for Life. Outside-the-box thinking has led to the creation and implementation of these innovative tools, which can now be used as levers to realize Arkansas' transformational vision to lead the nation in student-focused education.

Arkansas Fine Arts Academic Standards

The Arkansas Department of Education Division of Elementary and Secondary Education's (DESE's) Vision for Excellence is to transform Arkansas to lead the nation in student-focused education. The DESE offers these Arkansas Fine Arts Academic Standards to outline learning expectations for students in the study of fine arts. The standards encourage student-focused outcomes and the flexibility to identify where students are in their learning. In arts education, personalized experiences help all our students grow, regardless of their chosen field. A student's unique creativity, a product of student-focused arts education, develops the ability to understand a problem, think of multiple solutions, evaluate the best idea, and then implement it. This ability leads students to become creative change agents in the future.

The Arkansas Fine Arts Academic Standards set the expectations for all schools in the state for teaching and learning in the artistic disciplines of dance, theatre, visual art, and music. The revised standards are presented in four volumes, one for each of these artistic disciplines. Additionally, opportunities and resources are provided for teachers to address both DESE's Vision for Teaching and Learning and DESE's G.U.I.D.E. for Life and other related programs as they apply to the study of fine arts.

The Arkansas Fine Arts Academic Standards allow students to participate in the four artistic processes, both cognitive and physical, with which artists in every discipline learn and make art: creating, performing or presenting, responding, and connecting. These are the basis of the four domains that stretch across all disciplines, grade levels, and courses in the standards.

The Arkansas Fine Arts Academic Standards were prepared by a diverse committee of educators from all over the state. DESE commends them for their expertise and thanks them for the effort that will benefit the students of Arkansas for years to come.

The Rules Governing Standards for Accreditation require that students receive instruction in fine arts. For grades K-8, all students must receive instruction annually in visual art and music. In grades 7-8, all students must receive instruction annually in either visual art or a performing art. As part of the minimum graduation requirements, all students must successfully complete one-half credit of fine arts.

Philosophical Foundations and Lifelong Goals of Arts Education

According to the National Core

Arts Standards, the philosophical foundations and lifelong goals of a rich arts education establish the basis for the academic standards and illuminate artistic literacy by expressing the overarching common values and expectations for learning in arts education. The philosophical foundations represent the core principles on which the standards are based: the lifelong goals represent knowledge and skill outcomes that a quality arts education will produce over a lifetime.

PHILOSOPHICAL FOUNDATION

LIFELONG GOALS

THE ARTS AS COMMUNICATION

In today's multimedia society, the arts are the media, and therefore provide powerful and essential means of communication. The arts provide unique symbol systems and metaphors that convey and inform life experience (i.e., the arts are ways of knowing).

Artistically literate citizens use a variety of artistic media, symbols, and metaphors to independently create and perform work that expresses and communicates their own ideas, and are able to respond by analyzing and interpreting the artistic communications of others.

THE ARTS AS CREATIVE PERSONAL REALIZATION

Participation in each of the arts as creators, performers, and audience members enables individuals to discover and develop their own creative capacity, thereby providing a source of lifelong satisfaction.

Artistically literate citizens find at least one arts discipline in which they develop sufficient competence to continue active involvement in creating, performing, and responding to art as an adult.

THE ARTS AS CULTURE, HISTORY, AND CONNECTORS

Throughout history the arts have provided essential means for individuals and communities to express their ideas, experiences, feelings, and deepest beliefs. Each discipline shares common goals, but approaches them through distinct media and techniques. Understanding artwork provides insights into individuals' own and others' cultures and societies, while also providing opportunities to access, express, and integrate meaning across a variety of content areas.

Artistically literate citizens know and understand artwork from varied historical periods and cultures, and actively seek and appreciate diverse forms and genres of artwork of enduring quality/significance. They also seek to understand relationships among the arts, and cultivate habits of searching for and identifying patterns and relationships between the arts and other knowledge.

THE ARTS AS MEANS TO WELLBEING

Participation in the arts as creators, performers, and audience members (responders) enhances mental, physical, and emotional wellbeing.

Artistically literate citizens find joy, inspiration, peace, intellectual stimulation, meaning, and other life-enhancing qualities through participation in all of the arts.

THE ARTS AS COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

The arts provide means for individuals to collaborate and connect with others in an enjoyable, inclusive environment as they create, prepare, and share artwork that brings communities together.

Artistically literate citizens seek artistic experiences and support the arts in their local, state, national, and global communities.

G.U.I.D.E. for Life and the Arts

The Division of Elementary and Secondary Education has identified five guiding principles that support educators, business leaders, communities, and students in their efforts to help all Arkansans develop these critical skills. The principles represent skills needed to thrive at home, school, on the job, and in the community:

Growth (manage yourself); Understanding (know yourself); Interaction (build relationships); Decisions (make responsible choices); and Empathy (be aware of others). Research shows that learning in and through the arts offers rich opportunities for students and teachers to interact in unique ways that develop these essential life skills.

Growth: Manage Yourself

- Develop problemsolving skills.
- · Practice mindfulness.
- · Persevere.

Growth: The Goals

As an Arkansas graduate, I am:

- Reflective about my personal needs and manage my emotions effectively.
- An effective choice-maker and able to demonstrate increasing levels of independence in setting goals and achieving them for college, career, and community engagement.
- Able to manage time in order to set tasks and goals and achieve them.

Growth as a product of arts education:

Arts students develop the ability to solve problems by participating in the artistic process of creating as they source ideas, collaborate to make artistic choices, and organize their artistic work. In the artistic process of performing or presenting, art students learn to persevere by practicing technical skills, revising, and rehearsing until a final product is polished and ready to share with a viewer or audience.

Understanding: Know Yourself

- · Increase self-awareness.
- Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- Develop critical thinking skills.

Understanding: The Goals

As an Arkansas graduate, I am:

- Able to clearly articulate information I want to share.
- · Growth-minded, curious, and inquisitive.
- Reflective.
- · Resourceful.

Understanding as a product of arts education:

The arts provide a natural place to develop characteristics associated with self-awareness. As students participate in art making, they experiment and grapple with new ideas and are asked to communicate both their strengths and weaknesses with the confidence that understanding themselves as an artist and a person will be the result. In the artistic process of responding, arts students apply critical thinking to evaluate their own artistic work and that of others.

Interaction: Build Relationships

- Treat others with respect.
- · Communicate effectively.
- Seek out and offer help when needed.

Interaction: The Goals

As an Arkansas graduate, I am:

- An effective cross-cultural communicator.
- An active listener.
- A supporter of others.

Interaction as a product of arts education:

In the arts, students work as part of a creative team and support the artistic work of peers in the artistic processes of creating and performing. Through the artistic processes of responding and connecting, students respectfully observe, consider, and comment on the artistic work of their peers and of other cultures. They are given the opportunity to offer, receive, and apply constructive criticism and practice open discussion and collaboration with peers in both creating and revising their artistic work.

Decisions: Make Responsible Choices

- Consider personal beliefs, safety, and the situation.
- Think through potential consequences.
- · Put your best self forward.

Decisions:The Goals

As an Arkansas graduate, I am:

- A self-directed learner.
- A responsible citizen.
- Able to identify, set, and accomplish goals.

Decision-making as a product of arts education:

As they refine artistic techniques in the artistic process of performing, art students must make responsible choices in the selection, use, and care of the materials needed for their craft. The art student must also make lifestyle choices that allow him or her to remain healthy, manage time, and work hard to become a better practitioner of an artistic discipline. Additionally, art students are required to identify, set, and accomplish goals for every art work or performance.

Empathy: Be Aware of Others

- · See other perspectives.
- · Value the feelings of others.
- · Appreciate diversity.

Empathy: The Goals

As an Arkansas graduate, I am:

- Empathetic to others' feelings.
- Socially aware of cultural issues and differences.
- A collaborative team player.

Empathy as a product of arts education:

The arts are intertwined with feelings and emotions. In the artistic processes of creating and responding to art, students strive to understand the feelings and emotions of the audience, and to generate that understanding in the audience as well. This relationship requires the ability to interpret the needs of another person. Learning about cultural diversity is at the heart of every artistic discipline, and is the foundation of the artistic process of connecting.

Community Service Learning and the Arts

Community Service Learning (CSL) in Arkansas is specific to the implementation of Act 648 of 1993 which combines service to the community with student learning in a way that improves both the student and the community. CSL is best defined as volunteering or serving in a worthwhile capacity in the community while making a conscious effort to reflect, through some thoughtfully designed method, on what is learned from the service experience. CSL is an approach to teaching and learning in which students use academic knowledge and skills to address genuine community needs. It fosters civic responsibility and benefits the community in some way.

Act 648 of 1993 states that beginning with the 1996-97 school year, "a student who has completed a minimum of seventy-five (75) clock hours of documented community service in grades nine (9) through twelve (12), at any certified service agency or a part of a service-learning school program shall be eligible to receive one (1) academic credit that may be applied toward graduation."

Community Service Learning is one indicator of a school district's School Quality and Student Success. To establish a CSL program, school districts are asked to complete a district plan and submit it to the DESE through the Course Approval System.

For a list of nonprofit arts organizations and other community-based organizations that might be interested in partnering with your district in a CSL program, see the Arkansas Arts Council's list of nonprofit organizations. These organizations provide opportunities and resources statewide, regionally, and locally. Before partnering with any organization, be sure you have secured local board approval. Once local board approval is secured, please submit a partner site application if students are not working under the supervision of licensed district personnel.

More information about Community Service Learning can be found on the DESE website.

ESSA and the Arts

The Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) requires a well-rounded education for every student, and the arts are integral to a well-rounded education.

ESSA and Well-Rounded Education: Title VIII. Section 8002 - Definition

"(52) WELL-ROUNDED EDUCATION.—The term 'well-rounded education' means courses, activities, and programming such as English, reading or language arts, writing, science, technology, engineering, mathematics, foreign languages, civics and government, economics, arts, history, geography, computer science, music, career and technical education, health, physical education, and any other subject, as determined by the State or local education agency, with the purpose of providing all students access to an enriched curriculum and educational experience."

ESSA AND FUNDING FOR THE ARTS

Title IV Part A is ESSA's "well-rounded funding" and is especially supportive of arts education. Title IV Part A funds educational technology, safe and healthy students, and a well-rounded education. It is distributed annually by each state to each district through a funding formula.

To learn about Title IV Part A funding and the arts, familiarize yourself with your district's guidelines for federal funding. Consult with district leadership for options for Title IV Part A funding that might include arts program needs such as sheet music, art supplies, artist residencies, or subject-specific professional development for fine arts teachers. Develop a funding request that clearly explains how the requested funds will address the needs of your students, your program, and your school.

INTRODUCTION TO DANCE STANDARDS

- "The body says what words cannot."
- Martha Graham

"Education in the art of dance develops the knowledge and skills required to create, perform, and understand movement as a means of artistic communication. A comprehensive education includes improvisation, technique, choreography, performance, observation and analysis. Exposure to dance history and cultures, kinesiology and anatomy, and movement theories further enriches the dance educational experience. Education in the art of dance engages the artistic processes of creating, performing and critical analysis. These processes require students to read symbol systems, use critical thinking skills, excel in nonverbal reasoning and communication, exchange ideas, work cooperatively and collaboratively with others, and interact within a multicultural society. More comprehensively, education in the art of dance develops kinesthetic and spatial learning as well as intra- and interpersonal knowledge of self and others."

- National Dance Education Organization

The Four Artistic Processes for Dance

The four artistic processes of creating, performing or presenting, responding, and connecting have been established across all grades and disciplines in the Arkansas Fine Arts Academic Standards, including in the study of dance. Creating in the arts involves conceiving and developing new artistic ideas and work, relying on imagination, collaboration, and self-reflection. In the artistic process of performing or presenting, the student realizes artistic ideas and shares artistic work through performance or presentation to an audience. Responding to one's own work and the work of others guides the artist in understanding and evaluating how the arts convey meaning. In the connecting process, artistic ideas and work are related to personal meaning and to external contexts such as society, culture, or history. These artistic processes occur simultaneously in art-making and multiple processes can be combined in one learning activity.

The Eleven Anchor Standards

Under the four artistic processes are eleven anchor standards that indicate the goal for student learning by the end of grade 12. There are also overarching essential questions that teachers can use to guide student learning when they are designing lessons or planning activities. The artistic processes, anchor standards, and essential questions are drawn from the National Core Arts Standards and parallel arts education across the United States.

More than in any other content area, students enter fine arts instruction with a wide range of prior training, knowledge, and ability. The grade or year, designation, and/or level of learning in the continuum bands provide a guide for approximating when students should reach learning expectations while giving the teacher the flexibility to meet students at their current level. The student learning objectives, written as "I can" statements, are provided for each level of learning. This format allows districts that have transitioned to a competency-based system of reporting to easily move students through the levels when they are ready. Each grade band, course, or continuum is subdivided into different levels of learning. This division is intended to illustrate how student learning might progress over time and indicate when a student might be ready to move on to the next level of learning.

Also provided is teacher guidance in the form of "For example, students might" statements that could be used to inspire ideas when writing lessons for the standard. Additional online resources have been identified to support teachers with planning ideas. These instructional examples and resources are not required to be used as a part of the curriculum, but rather provide educators with various ways for students to demonstrate their understanding or competency.

The four artistic processes are addressed separately in the Dance Standards (creating, performing, responding, and connecting) but occur simultaneously in the actual practice of the discipline. As a result, aspects of multiple standards can be combined within a learning activity: students can learn a skill, apply it, make creative decisions while in rehearsal, think critically about their ideas, and relate their ideas to other experiences, contexts, and meanings. Thus the standards may be taught in any sequence and in an integrated manner. Some dance courses will require a heavier emphasis in certain artistic processes and anchor standards than others, and the individual instructor has the flexibility to make these decisions. It is important to note, however, that the anchor standards and student learning objectives ("I Can") are required to be addressed, whereas the teacher guidance statements ("For example, students might") are offered only as suggestions to spark ideas for instructional strategies.

Course Description: Dance I-IV

Dance I-IV are two-semester courses designed for students with varied levels of ability and previous experience in the discipline. Dance students will demonstrate an ability to apply dance fundamentals and dance techniques in the production, performance, analysis, and critique of dance performance. Students are expected to perform in solo, small group, and large group settings. Dance students will critique performances and deeply reflect upon the impact of dance on culture, as well as cultural influences on dance.

I can explore personal movement preferences and strengths in order to develop a short movement study.

IV: ADVANCED

J

I can execute movement study based on my own personal experience and the experiences of others.

For example, students might

- freestyle to different genres or styles of music.
- role-play by selecting movement that depicts a mood or action.

For example, students might bring to class examples of a variety of stimuli for sourcing movement ideas, such as music, poetry, natural phenomena, personal experiences, or current events, and share with peers.

For example, students might with a partner, discuss personal skills and create an original duet sequence that challenges and builds on strengths of both partners.

For example, students might

I can develop choreography with structured movement that demonstrates artistic expression.

IV: ADVANCED

J

I can choreograph a structured movement study that demonstrates concept development.

For example, students might

- demonstrate the five feet positions of ballet, or demonstrate a jazz square or tilt.
- combine basic movements into a dance progression.
- synthesize content generated from stimulus materials to choreograph dance studies.

For example, students might

- collaborate with peers to design a dance demonstrating effective movement of the body related to space, time, and energy.
- illustrate a story or an idea through the use of space, time, and energy.

For example, students might

- create an artistic statement; select and demonstrate movements that support the artistic statement.
- work individually and/or collaboratively to develop an original dance using choreographic devices to add layers of expression.

For example, students might

- choose a concept of personal interest for a movement study; justify choreographic choices; and explain how they demonstrate the development of the concept.
- create an artistic statement that communicates a personal and artistic perspective related to a selected concept.

- choose from a selection of sentence prompts to inform the use of space.
- use space intentionally during movement phrases.

For example, students might

- use video recordings of practice to analyze the difference between the way movements look and how they feel to match performance with visual effect.
- use syncopation and accent movements related to different tempos in a dance sequence.
- use space intentionally while dancing alone and with others.

For example, students might

- dance with sensibility toward other dancers while executing complex spatial, rhythmic, and dynamic sequences while considering performance goals.
- combine a variety of elements of dance, establishing relationships with other dancers.
- vary energy and dynamics over the length of a phrase and transition smoothly out of the phrase into the next phrase.

For example, students might

- use the broadest range of movement in space for artistic and expressive clarity.
- use inward and outward focus to clarify movement and intent.
- demonstrate time complexity in phrasing with and without musical accompaniment.
- use multiple and complex rhythms (e.g., contrapuntal, polyrhythmic) at the same time.
- work with and against rhythm of accompaniment or sound environments.

Dance I fulfills the 0.5 unit fine arts graduation requirement.

Division of Elementary and Secondary Education approval is not required for Performance Dance 6-12.

Course Description: Performance Dance 6-12

Performance Dance is designed for the serious dance student ready to commit to a year of intense study and rehearsal. The Performance Dance student will explore the dance experience and the elements needed for concert dance performance. This course provides an atmosphere in which students are nurtured and stimulated in their quest for artistic achievement, technical mastery, and scholarly excellence. The standards are written for flexible application, regardless of grade level, based on technique ability at the discretion of the individual teacher. Performance Dance students will be assessed by the following criteria:

- Physical participation in class work
- Student's effort in their level of concentration
- Retention of knowledge
- Individual improvement of technical ability
- Artistic quality in performance
- Ability to assimilate movement material
- Rhythmic accuracy
- Application of industry standards

Performance Dance 6-12 is not intended to award course credit for classes such as drill, majorette, dance, stand dance, pom, or cheer teams. This course should be taught by a certified dance teacher who addresses all of the Arkansas Performance Dance Standards during class time.

Division of Elementary and Secondary Education approval is not required for Dance Appreciation.

Course Description: Dance Appreciation

Dance Appreciation is a one-semester course designed to teach students the basic elements, principles, processes, and inherent qualities of dance. Students will examine a broad range of methods and will conduct critical analyses of the creative processes involved in dance.

Students will reflect on the connections between society and dance. Dance Appreciation students will develop perceptual awareness and aesthetic sensitivity, as well as a foundation for a lifelong relationship with dance.

The artistic processes of responding and connecting apply to Dance Appreciation.

Therefore, only five of the 11 anchor standards found in other Arkansas Fine Arts Academic Standards were selected as appropriate for use in this course. The anchor standards for Dance Appreciation are RE.7, RE.8, RE.9, CN.10, and CN.11. Dance educators may select additional standards from Dance I-IV as supplemental to this course.
